Subject: Retailer Feed - in Tariff - Draft Price Determination Statement of Response

Dear Essential Services Commission of South Australia,

The only way that South Australian's will be guaranteed to get a fair price for the electricity that is fed into the grid from their Photo Voltaic Systems is for the The Essential Services Commission of South Australia to set fair minimum price for retailers to pay. I consider 7.6 cents per KWH to be below what is fair.

Also the minimum price needs to be in place for many years to come. I find the ESCOSA's idea of not having a set minimum in the future to be an extremely bad one. I realise that the ESCOSA is being lobbied by energy sector for there not to be a minimum and for the energy sector to be able to not pay South Australians for the electricity that is fed in from their Photo Voltaic systems. But please show some back bone and do what is in the best interests of South Australians. After all "The Essential Services Commission is the independent economic regulator of essential services in South Australia. The Essential Services Commission's primary objective is the protection of the long-term interests of South Australians".

Regards
